A President Carrot appears to have had an unpleasantly narrow shave of leading off at his own end. The curious howl of his officers and Presidential advisers, who miss their mark. There evidently is divinity that does hedge a king.

The "300" at Palermo is to be moved to a small part of the Park. It is presently situated at the very lowest end, when there is a flood in the river it is touch and go to save the animals from drowning. Lord Mayor Secher while in Europe bought a lot of valuable animals for the Gardens, which will soon be worth looking at.

The City Council met last Monday night. The City all went to get a Congee day. They all went to get a Congee day, which could not be done properly without them. Yesterday they rested and were thankful, and to-day they went to business and probably give credit to their feelings in reference to what Lord Mayor Secher said about them last week.

Our esteemed colleague La Patria was

The wind was so strong in port on Sunday, though not much felt on land, and the river so rough, that many of the passengers to Europe by the French mail steamer La Plata could not get up the de ladders and had to be swung on hoists.

When swinging in the air most of them wore a comically frightened appearance that would have made the most sensitive member of the equine tribe burst into laughter.

A chronic case of madness is reported from Chilivcoy, where a violent madman, taken to the hospital, imagined that he had been sent there to be burned alive. To calm his nerves the doctors ordered him a sedative potion, but the only way they could persuade him to swallow it was to

In reference to the murder of the late F. Rodriguez in Rosario, the Reporter that city says:—"The funeral of the Don Enrique Rodriguez was largely attended by his numerous friends, although by what we can gather he was not much liked, yet great pity is felt for the manner in which he was murdered.

and through love and greed for money which brought on the dispute between Ruiz and Rodriguez. This ought to serve as a lesson to a few in Rosario who have the same affectionate feeling towards money and are running the same risk. We believe it better to pay a little more when difference arises and avoid the haggling which never ends wools."

Our little colleague El Pensamiento contains a remarkable article by A. J. Torrali, on a paper by "Lobo Marino," an statements made in a work entitled "Garibaldi in America." The "Sea Wolf" is closely related to Anita, Garibaldi's companion, indeed she was his first cousin, and his work contains statements about the Italian hero's public and private life that will be quite new to the general reader. "No man is a hero to his valet," and certainly Garibaldi does not appear to be a hero to "Sea Wolf."

The unfortunate horses of the Limpie service are to be fed better in future.

partment of the city service the other day, and, finding that the animals are starved, named Commissioners to remove the abuse and reform the whole transport system.

Travellers by the Lacroze trains fail to see any improvement in the service as compared with the management. The animals are quite as thin and tired as before, and the eternal disputes between "mayorales" about changing the animals, in order to get back to Almaty.

Some work, are just as frequent. It takes an hour as a rule to get from the Cafe de Paris to Almagro. The way round by Parana and the Retiro is too much for the horses, and the new Company should have stables at North end to change the animals. The pottering over the change of horses at the Once is also most aggravating to passengers in a hurry to or from town.
